

Dan Faherty

Co-Founder & Chief Financial Officer
Elementl Power

Profile

Dan Faherty is Co-Founder and Chief Financial Officer of Elementl Power, where he leads the company's financial strategy and supports the development and deployment of safe, affordable next-generation nuclear projects. He brings experience spanning energy investment, mergers and acquisitions, capital markets and nuclear operations.

Professional History

Prior to co-founding Elementl Power in 2022, Faherty co-founded Breakwater North, a private investment and advisory firm focused on mid-market acquisition and growth opportunities. Previously, he was a vice president at Jefferies, advising retail, consumer and energy clients on mergers, acquisitions, divestitures, strategic transactions and capital markets. He also has held roles in Goldman Sachs' Investment Banking Division, where he advised clients on transactions in the natural resources sector.

Faherty began his career as a nuclear submarine officer in the U.S. Navy, serving aboard the USS Scranton and with U.S. Fleet Forces during more than seven years of active-duty service. He is a qualified Naval Nuclear Engineer.

Education

Faherty holds a Master of Business Administration in Accounting and Finance from the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania and a bachelor's degree from the United States Naval Academy.
